

LAMDA Public Speaking

Exam Prep Tips

Exam prep checklist:

- Cue cards – I suggest buying some proper cue cards (they're often called record cards). You can pick up a bunch on amazon cheaply and they'll probably last you through all of your LAMDA exams.
- Put your speech on cue cards as soon as it's been edited and your teacher has given you the go ahead. Only write on one side of the cards and number them in one of the corners so they're easy to keep in order.
- If you're using a visual aid, make sure that you have practiced with it and that it is well integrated into your speech.
- Practice practice practice! Practice your speech AND the knowledge section OUT LOUD. So many students do not practice the knowledge section out loud. The knowledge section should be a natural conversation, so don't write down and rehearse a 'script', just ask one of your grown ups to ask you the questions so you can practice answering them.
- Remember - detailed answers get full marks.
- Relax and enjoy performing
